

New Book
from ASAHP

by Thomas W. Elwood

Executive Director, ASAHP, Washington DC

In a series of 31 essays originally published in the Journal of Allied Health over a 20-year period, this book surveys the development of federal health policy as it relates to allied health. By providing a useful way to examine matters such as workforce training, health care reform, and Congressional appropriations, the book will prove valuable to students with an interest in learning more about health policy.

All proceeds benefit the ASAHP's Scholarship of Excellence Fund, which provides financial assistance to students at member institutions.

Soft-cover, 7 x 10 in, 256 pgs, Mar 2009, ISBN 978-0-9758862-1-2
